graduates for examination for licensure, shall be incorporated, which in connection with another special law regulating the incorporation of educational institutions, has been effective in ridding California of many fly-by-night schools and has prohibited graduates from such schools in other States from being licensed to practice chiropractic in California.

The proposed amendment destroys these safeguards, making it unnecessary for schools to be incorporated and leaves the entire matter within the discretion of the board. We believe it is bad policy to give such unlimited power to boards which in the past, we regret to say, have not proven themselves at all times either capable or trustworthy in the execution of such unlimited powers.

In conclusion we urge the friends of chiropractic and the friends of good government, who desire to see the sick scientifically served and government honestly administered, to vote "NO" on this amendment, which was born of ignorance and avarice, and if enacted into law would reduce a valuable service to the people of this State to a conscienceless imposition upon the sick and suffering.

Argument in Favor of Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 21

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 21 was introduced in the Legislature for the reason that, under existing law, boards, commissions or other agencies created by initiative acts are not subject to any control by the Legislature. Rules and regulations for audit procedure, for budgetary control, and for uniform salaries for like work in the State service, are without effect on State agencies created by initiative measures.

During the 1931 Legislature the State Athletic Commission, which was created by an initiative act, increased the salaries of two inspectors from $250 per month to $375 per month, a salary entirely out of line with comparable work performed by other State employees. An endeavor was made to prevent this excessive increase in salaries, but the budget authorities and the State Controller were without power to do so. As a result, the Legislature of that year adopted Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 26, which was passed by the people to give the Legislature control over the financial affairs of the commission.

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 21 is submitted to the people so that all agencies created by initiative act shall hereafter be subject to such rules and regulations as may be adopted by the Legislature for handling the financial affairs, books, and records of such agency. Vote "Yes."
