Enclosure

(RF-10, 6/83)

Date: August 4, 1983
File No.: SA83RF0010

The Attorney General of California has prepared the following title and summary of the chief purpose and points of the proposed measure:

TAXATION. INITIATIVE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT. Amends Article XIII A, enacted as Proposition 13 in 1978, by adding additional restrictions on real property taxation and on enactment of new tax measures. Designates various effective dates for provisions. Prohibits imposition of any new tax based upon real property ownership, sale, or lease. Prohibits adoption of measures which increase any tax on any taxpayer except upon two-thirds vote of Legislature for state taxes and two-thirds vote of electorate for other governmental entities. Provides for specified refunds including refunds of real property taxes attributable to assessed value inflation adjustments in assessment years 1975-76, 1976-77, 1977-78. Summary of estimate by Legislative Analyst and Director of Finance of fiscal impact on state and local governments: There will be both one time and ongoing fiscal effects. One time fiscal effects: (1) If pending litigation does not change current assessment practices, there will be a potential cost of approximately $1.15 billion to pay property tax refunds. These would be paid by the state ($420 million), local property taxpayers through higher levies for debt service (up to $140 million), and local governments ($590 million). If pending litigation overturns current assessment practices, the cost of refunds payable would not be attributable to this measure, but there will be a cost of $250 million to pay higher interest on the refunds. (2) The state will gain either $60 million or $13 million in increased state income tax revenues because the property tax refunds paid or higher interest will be taxable income. Ongoing fiscal effects: If pending litigation does not change current assessment practices: (1) There will be revenue losses of $54 million to local governments and $30 million to school districts. (2) There will be an unknown but probably major gain in state income tax revenues. (3) There will be unknown multimillion dollar costs and revenue losses to state and local governments due to tax rate limitations; assessments practices changes; voting requirements for tax legislation; and the definitions of taxes, fees, and assessments contained in the measure. If pending litigation changes current assessment practices, the revenue losses noted in (3) will occur.

(RF-6)

To The Honorable Secretary of State of California

I, the undersigned, registered, qualified voter of California, resident of Los Angeles City and County hereby propose amendments to the Constitution of California, relating to taxation, and petition the Secretary of State to submit the same to the voters of California for their adoption or rejection at the next succeeding general election or at any special statewide election prior to that general election or otherwise provided by law. The proposed constitutional amendments read as follows:

THE AMENDMENT

SECTION 1. Subdivision (a) of Section 1 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is amended to read:

SECTION 1. (a) The maximum amount of any ad valorem tax or any other tax on real property, including land, buildings and improvements, during any twelve-month period beginning July 1 of each calendar year, shall not exceed one percent (1%) of the full cash value of such property. The one percent (1%) tax to be collected by the counties and apportioned according to law to the districts within the counties.

SECTION 2. Subdivision (b) of Section 1 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is amended to read:

SECTION 1. (b) (1) The limitation provided for in subdivision (a) shall not apply to ad valorem taxes or special assessments to pay the interest and redemption charges on any bonded indebtedness approved by the voters prior to July 1, 1978. There shall be no other exception to the limitation in subdivision (a).

(3) When any interest in a portion of real property is purchased or changes ownership, only the interest or portion transferred shall be reassessed.

(4) From and after June 6, 1978, for real property taxation purposes, when a value standard other than full cash value is prescribed by this Constitution or by statute authorized by this Constitution, including, without limitation, any value standard prescribed by Sections 8, 9 or 10 of Article 13 of this Constitution, such value standard shall be deemed to be "full cash value" as that term is used in this Section.

SECTION 4. Subdivision (b) of Section 2 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is amended to read:

SECTION 2. (b) (1) The full cash value base may reflect from year to year the inflationary rate, not to exceed 2 percent for any given year, or reduction as shown in the consumer price index or comparable data for the area under taxing jurisdiction, or may be reduced to reflect substantial damage, destruction or other factors causing a decline in value.

(2) The annual adjustment for the inflationary rate which is permitted by paragraph (1) shall not include any adjustment in the full cash value base for the 1975-76, 1976-77, and 1977-78 assessment years. Subsequent to the date of adoption of this Article, any assessee whose assessment for any year contained an adjustment for inflation for the 1975-76, 1976-77, or 1977-78 assessment year shall be entitled to refund of, or a credit against, taxes as the legislature shall provide, in the amount of that adjustment, plus interest at the rate of 13 percent from the date of payment, and a concurrent reduction of the full cash value base of the real property in the amount of that adjustment.

SECTION 5. Subdivision (e) is added to Section 2 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution, to read:

SECTION 2. (e) For purposes of this Section, from and after June 6, 1978, "change in ownership" shall not include any intrafamily transfer of real property between an owner thereof

(2) For purposes of paragraph (1), "bonded indebtedness" means any indebtedness which is evidenced or represented by the issuance of bonds in a specified amount and payable within a specified time and which is approved by the voters in accordance with paragraph (1).

SECTION 3. Subdivision (a) of Section 2 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is amended to read:

SECTION 2. (a) The full cash value means the county assessor's valuation of real property as shown on the 1975-76 tax bill under "full cash value" or, thereafter, the appraised value of real property when purchased, newly constructed, or a change in ownership has occurred after the 1975 assessment. All real property not already assessed up to the 1975-76 full cash value may be reassessed to reflect that valuation. For purposes of this subdivision:

(1) The term "newly constructed" shall not include real property which is reconstructed after a disaster, as declared by the Governor, where the fair market value of that real property, as reconstructed, is comparable to its fair market value prior to the disaster.

(2) From and after June 6, 1978, the "appraised value" of real property which has been purchased, newly constructed, or to which a change in ownership has occurred, may not exceed the higher of any of the following: (A) the most recent sales price of the real property, (B) the value of any consideration received in exchange for the real property, (C) the most recent sales price of the real property plus the cost of any new construction on the real property, or (D) the valuation of the real property as shown on the most recent tax bill under "full cash value," whichever is higher.

and any other person or persons if the person or persons to whom that property is transferred is or are members of the immediate family of that owner. This section shall apply to both voluntary transfers and transfers resulting from a court order or judicial decree. As used in this subdivision, "member of the immediate family of the owner" means parents, grandparents, stepparents, uncles, aunts, children, grandchildren, stepchildren, spouse, siblings of the owner, or the guardian or trustee for any of the foregoing persons.

SECTION 6. Section 3 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is amended to read:

SECTION 3. From and after June 6, 1978, any change enacted in any state tax, which increases the amount of any tax levied upon any taxpayer, whether by the imposition of a new tax, an increase in the rate of a tax, or a change in the method of computation of a tax, may be imposed only by an act passed by not less than two-thirds of all members elected to each of the two houses of the Legislature, except that no new ad valorem or any other tax on real property, no sales or transaction taxes on the sales or lease of real property, or no new tax the measure of which is based upon the ownership of real property may be imposed.

SECTION 7. Section 4 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is repealed.

SECTION 8. Section 4 is added to Article XIII A of the California Constitution, to read:

SECTION 4. Any change enacted in any tax by any governmental entity, exclusive of the state, which increases the amount of any tax levied upon any taxpayer, whether by the imposition of a new tax, an increase in the rate of a tax, or a change in the method of computation of a tax, may be imposed only by a measure approved by two-thirds of the qualified electors of that governmental entity voting on the measure at a public election. Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize the voters to approve any new or increased ad valorem tax or any other tax on real property, any transaction tax or sales tax on the sale or lease of real property, or any tax the measure of which is based upon the ownership of real property.

SECTION 9. Section 4.5 is added to Article XIII A of the California Constitution, to read:

SECTION 4.5. (a) As used in this article, the term "tax" means any compulsory exaction levied for revenue purposes, including any compulsory exaction levied for the purpose of paying pension liabilities, by the state, any local governmental entity, or any agency or instrumentality of either the state or a local governmental entity which does not constitute a fee or an assessment, as defined in subdivision (b).

(b) For purposes of this section:

(1) "Fee" means any charge exacted by the state, any local governmental entity, or any agency or instrumentality of either which is imposed upon persons or property for either of the following purposes:

(A) To pay for the costs of the services or benefits conferred upon the persons or property subject to the charge.

(B) To pay for the costs of a regulatory program under which the person or property subject to the charge is regulated.

(2) "Assessment" means a charge which is levied upon property within a limited area for the payment of a local improvement intended to enhance the value of all property within that limited area and which meets all of the following criteria:

(A) It is levied exclusively on land.

(B) It is based wholly on benefits to the land upon which it is levied.

(C) It creates no personal liability for the person whose land is assessed.

(D) It is limited both as to time and locality by the duration and scope of application of the improvement.

(3) To the extent that any fee imposed exceeds the reasonably estimated costs of the service or benefit conferred or provided to fee payers or the reasonably estimated costs of the regulatory program for which the fee is exacted, the excess shall constitute a tax. To the extent that any assessment levied exceeds the costs of payment for an improvement, the excess shall constitute a tax. If any portion of a fee or assessment is determined by a court pursuant to this paragraph to constitute a tax, any person paying the fee or assessment who is a party to the court proceeding and all similarly affected persons who paid the fee or assessment shall be entitled to receive from the entity imposing the fee or assessment a refund of that portion determined to be a tax, plus 13 percent interest from the date of payment.

(4) From and after May 23, 1983 any new fee, or any increase in any fee exceeding the increase if any in the cost of living during the preceding twelve-month period as shown in the consumer price index or comparable data for the area under jurisdiction, may be imposed only by a measure approved by two-thirds of the qualified electors of that governmental entity voting on the measure at a public election.

SECTION 10. Section 5 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is amended to read:

SECTION 5. (a) This article shall take effect for the tax year beginning on July 1 following the adoption of the constitutional amendment adding this article except that Section 3 and Section 4 shall become effective upon the adoption of this article.

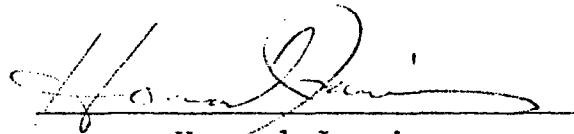

(b) Except for the provisions of paragraph (4) of subdivision (a) of Section 2, and the provisions of paragraph (2) of subdivision (b) of Section 2, the amendments and revisions to this article which are made by the constitutional amendment adding this subdivision shall take effect for the tax year beginning on July 1 following the adoption of this subdivision. Except for refunds under the provisions of paragraph (4) of subdivision (a) of Section 2, and as otherwise provided in paragraph (2) of subdivision (b) of Section 2, no refund shall be made as the result of the adoption of the constitutional amendment adding this subdivision for any tax year prior to the tax year beginning on July 1 following the adoption of this subdivision.

SECTION 11. Section 6 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is amended to read:

SECTION 6. If any section, part, clause, or phrase of this article, or any amendment or revision of this article, is for any reason held to be invalid or unconstitutional, the remaining sections, parts, clauses or phrases shall not be affected but shall remain in full force and effect.

SECRETARY OF STATE EU ANNOUNCES NEW JARVIS TAX REFORM INITIATIVE

SACRAMENTO -- In an effort to tighten restrictions on real property taxation, tax crusader Howard Jarvis has begun circulating initiative petitions to amend the constitutional provisions enacted by passage of Prop. 13 in 1978, Secretary of State March Fong Eu announced today (Aug. 5).

If adopted by the voters, the measure would place additional restrictions on real property taxation, prohibiting imposition of any new tax based on ownership, sale, or lease of real property. It would further prohibit enactment of any measures to increase any tax except by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature for statewide taxes, or by a two-thirds vote of the electorate for local taxes. In addition, it would provide refunds of real property tax assessments in the amount of the annual inflation adjustment for the assessment years 1975-76, 1976-77, 1977-78 and a "concurrent reduction of the full cash value base of the real property in the amount of that adjustment."

Titled simply "Taxation", the measure is an initiative constitutional amendment which requires 630,136 valid signatures of registered voters to qualify for a place on the ballot. The 150-day deadline for submission of signatures is Jan. 2, 1984; however, in order to qualify for the June 5, 1984 primary election ballot, petitions should be submitted by Nov. 29, 1983 to allow sufficient time for signature verification. Proponent Jarvis is reachable at (213) 658-5151.

A copy of the initiative, its title and summary and circulation calendar is attached.
